Over 80 km of Lines & Trails – 9 Lifts – 7 Mountains

Austria's largest bike region!

The name says it all and Austria's largest bike region keeps its promise. More than 80 kilometers of lines & trails, 9 lifts on 7 mountains, 3 large practice areas for kids and beginners, Alpine gravel biking routes for every taste and an almost limitless network of mountain bike trails for all abilities. In short: Saalbach Hinterglemm Leogang Fieberbrunn is a true playground for riders of all walks of life and of all abilities.

Austria's largest bike region connects the sprawling mountain bike area of Saalbach Hinterglemm with the Epic Bikepark Leogang and the Bike Area Streuböden in Fieberbrunn, which was newly created in 2021. The result: an incomparable variety of trails with more than 80 kilometers of lines & trails that cater to any skill level and a unique network of mountain and gravel bike routes that stretches across two of Austria's states.

From beginner to pro

Work your way up! Getting into a new sport can be daunting but Saalbach Hinterglemm Leogang Fieberbrunn make it as easy as it can be with dedicated practice and beginner areas in all three towns. The Learn to Ride Park at the foot of Saalbach's Kohlmaisbahn, for example, offers four "Mini Lines", a magic carpet and an uphill trail specifically designed to make it easy for beginners to practice their skills or get into the sport. Leogang, on the other hand, offers a 10,000 m² practice area, the Riders Playground. Easy beginner trails, a World Championship pumptrack and the GoPro Bagjump provide the ideal environment to hone your skills. Lastly, the three easy lines of the Easy Park Obingleitn in Fieberbrunn offer an easy path to get into a routine thanks to their numerous berms, easy North Shore elements and rock gardens.

Once the fundamentals are on lock, progression is made easy thanks to numerous beginner-friendly lines with many playful elements that will even keep more advanced riders entertained.

Step by step, Riders will find it easy to work their up (or should we say down?) to more and more advanced trails until they eventually make it to the Downhill World Championship track, "Speedster", or the rough and technical X-Line. However, anyone considering hitting these 'pro' trails should really make sure that they are able to comfortably ride all other trails, lines and features in the region before embarking on this this of skill and courage.

Mountain biking without limits

The choice of the next tour depends solely on your own level of fitness as the cross-border mountain bike trail network is almost limitless. In Saalbach Hinterglemm Leogang Fieberbrunn, you will find a wide range of tours that can be individually tailored to your needs. Everyone is free to decide whether the next tour will be a leisurely round through beautiful Alpine pastures, a panoramic tour with the use of the lifts or a challenging marathon. Whatever you choose, you can recharge your batteries and indulge in some refreshments in one of the numerous huts found throughout the mountains and valleys of the region.

Gravel biking in the Alps

Gravel biking is much more than just a discipline, it's a lifestyle. Whether it's extended tours, fast off-road laps on gravel roads and forest paths or leisurely exploration adventures, gravel biking always promises a truly memorable experience. The region, so far largely known as a mountain bike destination, turns out to be an insider's tip for this trendsetting sport. But what distinguishes gravel bikers from road bikers? While you are confined to asphalt roads with a road bike, the somewhat less restrictive geometry and the larger tread and profile of the tires of a gravel bike promise freedom, fun, adventure, and the experience of nature away from busy roads. Saalbach Hinterglemm Leogang Fieberbrunn is a true Alpine gravel road paradise with a near infinite number of different touring options.

Endless scope

Austria's largest biking region offers thrilling biking experiences regardless of which bike you're on. With the E-MTB boom, these experiences have reached new heights. Literally. The charging stations throughout the mountains are ready to recharge your bike, the rental shops have stocked up their E-

MTB inventory and all mountain bike routes and trails are, of course, also accessible to E-Bikers without limitations. Furthermore, specially designated E-Bike routes offer easy recommendations for tours that are particularly suited for E-mountain bikers. Stop, recharge, and continue cycling is the motto when you comfortably charge your bike at a mountain hut while taking a short break.

The offer is rounded off by rider-oriented services such as bike shops, bike rental, bike schools, local guides, and practice areas for beginners. And, of course, riders and mountain bikers are welcome guests in all accommodations, restaurants, and huts.

News 2022

There is always plenty to do in between seasons and 2022 is no different as Saalbach Hinterglemm Leogang Fieberbrunn has once again been hard at work to create new trails and further improve the infrastructure. Here's the latest news from Austria's largest bike region:

New Line on the Schattberg – The fAIRy Line

The Schattberg area has a new line. From summer 2022 on, riders looking for an alternative to the rough and technical X-Line can look forward to the new fAIRy line. As much flow as the Panorama-Line but with more airtime and a view straight out of a fairy tale.

New bike tours in Fieberbrunn: Hochhörndler Hut and Hoametzl Round-Tour

Next to its Bikepark-style trails, Fieberbrunn is also a true insider's tip for fans of leisurely tours. Starting in summer 2022, Fieberbrunn is adding two additional leisure tours to its vast network of trails and paths. The tour "Hochhörndler Hütte 2020" starts at the hotel 'Eiserne Hand' in Fieberbrunn, passes the 'Schreiender Brunnen', a small waterfall, before leading over the 'Hörndlinger Graben' and to the Hochhörndler Hütte. This medium-difficulty, 6.3-kilometer-long tour follows beautiful forest roads and includes 740 vertical meters of elevation gain. Once at the top, riders are not only greeted by gorgeous views but by a traditional lunch at the mountain hut that is the namesake of the tour.

The second new leisure tour leads to the Hoametzl mountain hut. The tour starts in Hochfilzen between the two regions of Fieberbrunn and Leogang with a stretch on an asphalt road before it leads onto gravelly forest roads and up to the Hoametzl hut. After a short break at the hut, riders need to push just a bit further uphill to reach the highest point of the tour before gravity takes over on the downhill. The tour is 8.5 kilometers long, rated as medium difficulty and includes 280 vertical meters of climbing.

Keep the Epic Bikepark clean

Epic times on the bike go hand-in-hand with treating nature respectfully. That is why the motto at Bikepark Leogang is "Keep the Epic Bikepark clean". For this reason, tear-off systems are banned. To make up for this, riders can get a replacement film for their roll-off system as well as a 10% voucher for goggles with a roll-off system by 100% at Sport Mitterer when they buy a ticket in rainy weather.

Lines & Trail Highlights

From the legendary Hacklberg Trail in Saalbach Hinterglemm to the Speedster, the official 2020 Downhill World Championship track, in the Epic Bikepark in Leogang, there is something to suit every taste in here! Over 80 km of lines & trails on 7 mountains, easily accessible by 9 lifts in Saalbach Hinterglemm Leogang Fieberbrunn: This is Austria's biggest bike region!

Saalbach Hinterglemm

Panorama-Line

Another flowline? Yes, please! The Panorama Trail has quickly become a favorite amongst mountain bikers. The 3 km-long "downhill pump track" winds its way down from the Panorama Alm to the middle station of the Kohlmaisbahn and promises pure flowline enjoyment with its high berms, tables, step-ups, and step-downs.

X-Line

The X-Line is the "boss" of the bike trails in Saalbach Hinterglemm. Anyone who dares to ride this line should have complete confidence in themselves and their bike as this 6 km-long, technical, and steep trail is littered with root carpets and rock gardens. True downhill riders will find precisely the rough and tricky conditions they are looking for on this trail.

Pro-Line

The Pro-Line is the great-grandfather of bike trails in Saalbach Hinterglemm. The first downhill trail in the region might have been around for a while but it is far from outdated thanks to regular facelifts, such as the recent addition of many new jumps and an improved track layout with multiple choices and Evil Eye features.

Hacklberg-Trail

Legen- wait for it! With its natural character and unique panorama, the Hacklberg Trail is THE must-ride trail in Saalbach Hinterglemm and leads to the Buchegg Trail which leads directly to the base of the Westgipfelbahn. From 2020 onwards, this results in an almost endless downhill run with over 1,000 meters of descending.

Bergstadl-Trail

Looking for technical, rough single trails? You will find what you're looking for on the Bergstadl Trail! The hearts of technical bikers beat faster here. Hairpin bends, roots and chunky rock gardens are all on the menu on this challenging trail.

The Epic Bikepark Leogang

Hot Shots fired by GoPro

Airtime, airtime, airtime, and more airtime. These are the ingredients for the riding experience on the Hot Shots fired by GoPro! You wanted something massive ... Now we have it! A massive pro-jumpline that belongs on every rider's bucket list!

Speedster

Mountain bike history has already been made on this UCI World Championship and World Cup track. With its steep and technical sections, large jumps as well as high-speed and off-camber passages, it is the most technically demanding line in the Epic Bikepark Leogang. A real challenge! Do you dare?

Steinberg Line by FOX

Built in 2019 and a tremendous success! Shaped with beginners and flow lovers in mind, this trail is ridden and loved by all! Starting at the Steinbergbahn mountain station, the Steinberg Line by FOX meanders through the forest to the valley station with an average gradient of approx. 9%. Always in view: the beautiful panorama of the Leoganger Steinberge.

Flying Gangster

The classic! Built in 2001, but still young and snappy. Well-equipped with wall rides, jumps, tables with optional take-offs and drops that provide fun times and plenty of airtime.

Bongo Bongo

This trail branches off halfway down the Flying Gangster and is an insider's tip. It snakes almost entirely through the forest into the valley via narrow turns, steps, roots, rock gardens and North Shore elements. Good line choice and technique are required!

Valis Hölle

"That was a hell of a ride." Originally built for the 2020 Downhill World Championships, this rough, steep and gnarly trail has been open to the public since 2021. Named after local hero and 2021 Overall World Cup Winner Valentina Höll, this trail features very, very steep gradients, lots of off-camber sections and an almost ridiculous amount of roots. Beware – Valis Hölle is even a challenge for the world's best, especially in the wet.

Antonius Trail

New in the Epic Bikepark Leogang family since 2019 and already a must. This unspoiled, narrow single trail is technically demanding, and the scenery is stunning.

Knappentrail

Despite sharing its start and end with the well-known Schwarzleo Trail, the new Knappentrail follows its own path down the mountain. Similar to its fellow trails like the Schwarzleo-Trail, Forsthoftrail and Matzalmtrail, the Knappentrail is a natural singletrail with a few playful North Shore elements thrown into the mix. Once at the bottom, riders can either head over to the Bikepark at the Asitz lift or climb back up to ride one of the other three natural trails in the area.

Matzalm Trail

The Matzalm Trail leads playfully through the forest over roots, rocks, and sometimes down narrow hairpin bends. Ferns, moss, pristine giant trees, and lush Alpine meadows - experience pure nature!

Bike Area Fieberbrunn

Schweinestberg-Trail

The new Schweinestberg trail (4 km/easy) offers plenty of enjoyment, fun and flow. Starting at the middle station, it leads over a wooded mountain ridge back to the Streuböden valley station. After a short roll-in section, the trail branches off into the forest. North Shores, undulating passages, plenty of turns and wide lines will put a big grin on the faces of all newcomers and casual riders!

Easy Park Obingleiten

The Hänsn Line and the Obing Line at the Streuböden valley station are ideal for all those who have never been to a bike park before or would like to hone their technique. Bike control and balance can be perfected on 20 to 25 hairpin bends peppered with wooden elements before the converted T-Bar lift takes you back to the top comfortably. The new pump track is the biggest hit for the smallest riders and a great opportunity for everyone else to warm up or work out.

Mountain bike tours featuring all degrees of difficulty

Leisurely tours and easy valley bike trails as well as challenging marathon routes and full-day tours covering several peaks can be found in this cross-provincial bike region. The mountain bike trail network with hundreds of well-signposted tours is almost endless and with 9 state-of-the-art lifts including bike transport, Austria's largest bike region offers the perfect base camp for mountain bikers of all endurance levels.

Touring tips:

Saalbach Hinterglemm - easy

The Talschluss loop is the perfect bike tour for beginners or for a leisurely ride and includes an optional culinary stop at an idyllic Alpine hut. Starting from Hinterglemm, riders reach the end of the valley via the Glemmtal cycle path heading upstream. From here, you leisurely gain a few meters in altitude - a total of 480 - until you reach the highest point at the Ossmannalm. If you are biking with children, you can make a detour here on foot to the educational Wildlife Trail. After that, a narrow hiking trail leads back downhill to the starting point. The trail is also suitable for children's bicycle trailers via the Lindlingalm to the Saalalm.

First, you take the Asitzbahn or Steinbergbahn up to the top station (lift ticket required!). Following the Asitztrail (or alternatively the forest road) to the Schönleitenhütte, the route alternates between uphill and downhill, leads past the Jahnhütte and Örgenbauernalm to the Berggasthof Biberg. Here you can enjoy the magnificent panorama on one of the most beautiful mountains in the region and indulge in some culinary treats before tackling the descent towards Leogang. The last few kilometers back to the starting point can then be completed quite comfortably.

Fieberbrunn - difficult

The "Hennerleiter" - Gerstbodenalm round-tour poses a challenge even for the most toned calves but rewards riders with shady forest passages, a small waterfall, wonderful panoramic views, and delicious snacks. From Gasthof Eiserne Hand in Fieberbrunn, riders follow the course of the stream into the Hörndlinger Graben. The first stop is at the "Schreienden Brunnen", a small waterfall. Via the so-called

"Hennerleiter", the route leads up several steep serpentines to the Gerstbodenalm and on towards the Wetterkreuz chairlift valley station in Saalbach. A little further uphill and then, after an enjoyable descent, you are spoilt for choice: stop off at the Spielberghaus or continue cycling for a few minutes to the Burgeralm? Both options pay off! From the Burgeralm, take the forest road back to the starting point.

Distance: 21 km
Duration: approx. 4 h
Ascent/Descent: 870 m

Gravel biking in the Alps

Gravel biking in Austria's largest bike region? The region, so far primarily known as a mountain bike destination, turns out to be an absolute insider's tip for gravel bikers. The new discipline is the evolution of cyclo-cross bikes towards longer tours and fills the niche between road bikes and mountain bikes, delighting endurance-focused cyclists who don't want to be limited to paved roads. As the first tourism region in Austria, Saalbach Hinterglemm Leogang Fieberbrunn has now also dedicated itself to gravel bikes and thus adds another stone to the mosaic that is Austria's largest bike region.

Gravel biking means freedom, performance, adventure, and fun. Far away from paved roads, gravel biking is an experience as individual as the rider him or herself. Whether you're touring with overnight bags or you're after fast off-road laps on gravel roads and forest paths or just a leisurely exploratory tour, gravel biking is more than a new, trendy discipline. It's a lifestyle. And this lifestyle is now here.

The small but subtle difference between a gravel bike and a road bike.

While a road bike pretty much confines you to asphalt roads, the less aggressive geometry and the profile of the tires of a gravel bike equal freedom, riding pleasure, adventure and experiencing nature off the beaten track. The area around Saalbach Hinterglemm Leogang Fieberbrunn is a true gravel road paradise with a wide variety of touring options.

Tour suggestion: Two-day gravel tour through Austria's largest bike region

This round-tour can be started from either Saalbach Hinterglemm, Saalfelden, Leogang or Fieberbrunn and, depending on the rider's fitness level, can be completed in one or two days. This scenic tour across a whole variety of terrain is 88.5 km long and includes 2,585 vertical meters of climbing.

Details on the tour can be found here.

Tour tip: BIG (E)PIC

This 55km-long tour features sensational views, numerous opportunities for brakes and local food, five charging stations and some seriously fun trails. Should the tour end up being too long after all, there's plenty of opportunities to take shortcuts back down into the valley.

Culinary E-Bike Pleasure Tour in Saalfelden Leogang

Affectionately designed farm shops, a self-service station for organic vegetables and a schnapps distillery that also produces gin and vodka. These are all stops on the e-bike pleasure tour. The route is equally suited for e-bike veterans and beginners. The key thing is that cyclists have time to enjoy a delightful ride. There are plenty of bike services available in the area. By the way, a refreshing change to the numerous food-related stops is a dip in the Ritzensee lake.

The Culinary E-Mountain Bike Tour round at Fieberbrunn

No matter how many gears a bike is equipped with, on the Culinary E-Bike Tour, three of them count first and foremost. Every Tuesday, one of the culinary tours starts. These tours are offered in several variations across the beautiful landscape of the Pillerseetal. Along the way, the smell of first-class KochArt restaurants that put a particular emphasis on seasonal and regional dishes, entices you to keep going. At the first stop, the starter and main course are served; at the second, the dessert. Don't worry, you can always get back on your bike and shift up a gear! After all, you're on an e-bike, and enjoyment comes first! The guided tour, including a guide and 3-course menu, costs 49 Euros per person (excluding drinks and bike rental).

Bike & Hike Tour with a picnic at the Bergsee in Fieberbrunn

The early rise is worth it! And the tour to the Grießenbodenalm in Fieberbrunn is even more so. Equipped with a basket full of homemade products, you cycle to a glistening mountain lake amongst beautiful Alpine pastures. Enjoy not only the genuine taste of homemade products but also the wonderful peace and tranquility! Further along this tour, it is best to leave your bike at the Wildalmen, where the Wildalm cheese shop offers cheese tasting. You can also purchase cheese and watch nostalgic tourism films and gaze at photographs from Fieberbrunn in the smallest cinema on the mountain. Thanks to electric support, your calves are still spared up here, and nothing stands in the way of a hike to the Wildseelodersee lake! It takes just under 30 minutes on foot to reach the legendary mountain lake, which is nestled between the peaks of Wildseeloder (2,118) and Henne (2,077).

THE CHALLENGE, bike your limit

"THE CHALLENGE - Bike your limit" is the name of the new mountain tour challenge in Austria's largest bike region that only the fittest can achieve. Who will manage to ride the entire area around Saalbach Hinterglemm Leogang Fieberbrunn in one day? You must conquer seven mountains in "THE CHALLENGE" with the help of seven lifts. Be prepared for pure trail pleasure in Saalbach Hinterglemm and challenging bike park lines in Leogang. However, Fieberbrunn, known for its enjoyable biking, will make your calves burn on this tour.

You can start the tour in any of the three towns. If you start THE CHALLENGE in Saalbach, you can use the Schattberg X-press to get to the Schattberg Sprinter via the top trail section of the X-Line, which takes you to the start of the legendary Hacklberg Trail. If you start in Hinterglemm, you can use the Westgipfelbahn for the ascent. Via the Hacklberg Trail and Buchegg Trail, you will reach the 12-person KOGEL lift. The Z-Line leads from the middle station back down into the valley. After a few hundred meters through the center of Hinterglemm, you come to the Reiterkogel lift, where the Blue or Pro Line is waiting for you. The cycle path leads you back to Saalbach and through the village center to the Kohlmaisbahn. From the mountain station, you make your way along the Spielbergbach stream to Fieberbrunn, where your legs and stamina will be challenged, but you will be rewarded with an incomparable view of the stunning scenery. After you have taken the Streuböden gondola up to the middle station - which is also the starting point for your tour if you start in Fieberbrunn- The Schweinestberg Trail, newly built in the summer of 2021, awaits you and leads you back down into the valley. Once you have reached the bottom, you'll be faced with a 16 km long cycle path with 200 meters of elevation. "No challenge for me!" you say? It is because time is breathing down your neck to finish the whole tour on the same day. Arriving or starting in Leogang, you take the Asitzbahn up to the mountain station. If you arrive here in the early afternoon, you can count yourself among the fastest bikers in the region and even have time to complete one or two descents in the Epic Bikepark Leogang. Those who choose Leogang as their starting point for THE CHALLENGE should not spend too long in the bike park, however, as the tour can only be completed in just under a day. From the Asitzbahn mountain station, you must head up to the summit and over the rooted trail to Kohlmais. The flowing Panorama Trail and Monti Trail await you here. The end of the tour is your starting point, and if you were able to master THE CHALLENGE, you definitely deserve an after-ride beer in the bike-friendly restaurants and bars where you can park your bike in sight without worrying and let the day come to an end.

Are you ready for the "THE CHALLENGE"?

Everyone who successfully completes THE CHALLENGE will receive a small reward at the valley stations of the lifts and will end up in the lottery draw for the following prizes at the end of the season:
